

Dialogue and Difference

|  |   |
|--|---|
| Laurence Raw &amp; AyÅe Lahur KÄ±rtunç | Foreword  |
| Talât Sait Halman                       | A Monologue on Indifference   |
| KÄ±mil AydÄ±n                           | An Analysis of European and American Comparative Literary Theories: The Conflict between Eurocentric and Liberal Discourses |
| Teodora Tsimpouki                       | Representations of Identity in Contemporary Ethnic American Fiction: The Case of Paula Gunn Allen                           |
| ÇiÄ±dem BalÄ±m Harding                  | Defining Group Identity in a Multicultural Society: The Pakistani Muslim Communities in Britain                             |
| Gerald MacLean                          | Ottomanism and Imperial Envy:The Case of Henry Blount   |
| Ä±zebneÄ± Toplu                         | Ottoman and British Women: Gender in the Eighteenth Century   |
| RahÄ±yan Giritli &amp; Hanzade Ayas     | Representations of Women in Magazine Advertisements   |
| Nuran Erol                              | Arabesque Culture as a Metaphor of the World in Turkish Society   |
| Arus Yumul                              | Representations (Images), Counter-Representations (Counter-Images) and Identities   |
| AsiÄ± Didem DanÄ±Ä±                     | The Upper Middle Class Suburbs of Ä±stanbul: Identity or Diversity  |
| Özlem Uzundemir                         | A Desire for a Dialogue between the East and the West: Orhan Pamuk's Benim AdÄ±m KÄ±rmÄ±zÄ±                          |
| Chris Rumford                           | Turkish Identities: Between the Universal and the Particular  |
| Laurence Raw                            | Afterword: Dialogue and Difference in the Turkish Classroom   |
| Edited by:                              | Laurence RawAyÅe Lahur Kirtunç   |